More Beef Shipped Since Rationing

OTTAWA, (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Wednesday in the commons that exports of beef to Britain have increased "greatly" since meat rationing was reintroduced a year ago. He was unable to supply figures.

Soldier Released After Legal Rows

PORT GEORGE, Md., (AP) — Pte. Donald Hicks, 25, of Kingston, N.Y., who contends he legally isn't in the United States army at all, is scheduled to receive an honorable discharge.

Hicks was convicted of an attack on an English girl in 1942. An army court martial sentenced him to a dishonorable discharge and 25 years in prison.

When transferred to Levensburg, Pa., federal prison at the end of 1944, Hicks began studying law, asked for a writ of Habeas Corpus and filed a petition, signed by 1,423 residents of Corby, England, claiming he had been unjustly convicted.

The court, emphasizing Hicks had been unable to subpoena witnesses at his court martial, ordered the soldier released Jan. 14.

Then complications began. Hicks said he had refused the request of the Levensburg warden asking him to accept the army contention that the dishonorable discharge was not made along with the conviction and go to return to duty at Indianwood Camp, Pa.

When he did not, he was re-arrested on a charge of being absent without leave. He was ordered to Fort Meade, where he refused to wear uniforms and to accept a pass—this, he argued, would be tantamount to recognizing military orders.

A habeas corpus petition he drew up himself has been granted by Federal Judge Chesnut, and even as Hicks was receiving the honorable discharge which he has been seeking all along, the post commander was under orders to show cause why the soldier should not be released.

See Big-Power Struggle For Mediterranean Control

By Charles Nichols

PARIS. — The big-power contest for strategic power in the Mediterranean spread Wednesday to the international conference chambers of Paris.

Those who heard Vyacheslav Molotov attack the policies of the present Italian government before the 21 nation peace conference Tuesday had little doubt that he was carrying out step further the systematic Russian campaign to weaken British and American prestige and power in the Middle Eastern lands which are developing into the potentially explosive meeting point between Russian and western interests.

There were two points, stressed in the Soviet foreign minister's speech, that were interpreted as strengthening this conclusion:

1. He argued in the national press of Italy and France by charging that "certain great powers are now evincing a desire to assume a monopolistic position in the Mediterranean."

2. He criticized as excessive the economic demands imposed by the western powers, especially the cost of military occupation which, though he did not mention it, will end 90 days after the draft peace treaty is completed by the conference and signed.

Although he faced the delegations when he spoke, Molotov was mainly directing most of his words to the Italian press with a view to strengthening their nation support for the Communist party.

His thesis was in effect that the present Italian regime was not wholly democratic, was too much under the influence of the western powers and that as a result, the country would suffer economically.

The speech is bound to be exploited by the Communists in Italy who can argue that the nation's misfortunes are being aggravated by the British and Americans and that it would have a better chance of recovering its territorial possessions and receiving economic reparations if it hitched its wagon to the red star.

It was noticed also in conference circles that the Molotov assault on the western powers' ambitions for Mediterranean monopoly would coincide with the Russian note to Turkey asking revision of the international regulations governing use of the Dardanelles by warships and merchant shipping.

Propose N.Y. Sites As Home for U.N.

NEW YORK, (AP) — The United Nations headquarters commission Wednesday selected five sites, all of them in New York's Westchester county, for submission to the general assembly which will make a final decision on the permanent home for the world agency. All Connecticut sites were eliminated.

The possibility still remained that the assembly might disregard the work of the commission and pick an entirely new location.

See Winter Peak Veterans' Benefits

SASKATOON, (CP) — The flow of applications for veterans' benefits will probably reach its peak this winter, according to several speakers at the first western conference of rehabilitation officers here Wednesday. Representatives from Ottawa, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver are attending the meeting.

Ottawa Amazed By Envoy Report

By Chester Bloom

OTTAWA.—External affairs circles were struck dumb with amazement Wednesday by a despatch from Regina that Hon. William P. A. Tuzo, ambassador to Belgium, had advised Notre Dame college Wilcox, Sask., that he has been offered and accepted the post of Canadian ambassador to France.

Canada's present representative in France is Maj.-Gen. George P. Vanier, D.S.O., M.C.

According to Lt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, minister of justice and acting prime minister, there had been the slightest intimation of any such shift in the Belgian-Prime Minister's office.

Prime Minister King departed for Paris.

Maj.-Gen. Vanier, 62, is reputedly in good health and top form. There had been some rumors that Gen. Vanier might be sent as Canadian representative at the Vatican in Rome.

But recently, when the question of establishing a Canadian mission to the Vatican was discussed in the House, Mr. King said the time was not opportune.

An appointment to the London post, it has been reported, lies between Mr. Bowles and Hon. T. C. Davie, who recently returned from an interim war appointment of high commissioner to Australia. It was noted that when this question was settled, there might be a general shuffle all around of Canadian ambassadors and high commissioners but nothing definite had been decided when Mr. King departed for Paris.

Farmers Complain Over Jeep Tie-Up

By Chester Bloom

OTTAWA.—Southern Alberta farmers are complaining bitterly according to reports received here, that they are unable to buy either trucks or jeeps while an auto company, which has about 1,000 jeeps imported from the U.S., is unable to release them due to lack of priority certificates in the hands of buyers.

The alleged tie-up apparently resulted from the recent alteration in issuance of priority certificates. Between April 1 and Aug. 1, dealers were permitted to sell jeeps with priority certificates with an "open end," that is, when no demand came from priority certificate holders the dealers were then permitted to sell them to buyers without priorities.

This was changed on Aug. 1. Not only was the "open end" privilege removed, but priority certificates for various categories of passenger cars, trucks and all automotive vehicles were required to be applied for and issued at Ottawa instead of at local offices throughout Canada. The certificates now are handled by the motor vehicle controller in the department of reconstruction, Ottawa.

At the moment that office has about 900 applications for priorities on cars and trucks from all over Canada. A car dealer at Lethbridge has complained that the company brought in 25 jeeps from Toledo, Ohio, about two months ago and so far has been unable to sell them, despite a big demand because they were classified as trucks, and would be buyers cannot get truck priority certificates.

The Alberta complainants allege that grain is going to waste in the Lethbridge area for lack of traction power, but nevertheless they cannot get a release to sell the jeeps.

At the motor vehicle controller's office here, it was stated that buyers who want jeeps must apply to Ottawa for the priority certificates stating the category within which they are entitled to a certificate.

Will Ship Whale Home to Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, (CP) — There's an unusual cargo going to Winnipeg one of these days if Ald. William Scroba adheres to his resolution ship home the 1,400-pound white whale he caught at Churchill, Man., and that according to word reaching here is just what he is going to do.

He harpooned the whale in the fall and then shot about 100 rounds into it before killing it.

U.S. Authorizes Coffee Price Rise

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Office of Price Administration Wednesday authorized immediate retail price increases on coffee, ranging from 10 to 12 cents a pound.

The increases mainly result from cancellation of an import subsidy of three cents a pound when the price control law lapsed July 1 and an increase of about one cent a pound authorized for imports June 28.

Cureca, Netherlands West Indies, will spend $2,000,000 for new houses for the working classes.

Eleanor Roosevelt In Car Accident

YONKERS, N.Y., (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late president, Wednesday escaped injury in an automobile accident in which her car and two others were involved near Yonkers.

Three people were removed to hospital, including Mrs. Gertrude Jones, identified by police as an employee of Mrs. Roosevelt.

However, Mrs. Roosevelt's car, which police said she was driving, was badly damaged it could not be driven away from the scene of the accident.

Redcoat Tradition To Be Maintained

OTTAWA, (CP) — R.C.M.P. special constables are being replaced by members of the Corps of Commissioners at the doors of most Dominion government buildings, but the 26-year-old tradition of "redcoats" on Parliament Hill will be maintained.

According to Lt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, minister of justice and acting prime minister, there had been the slightest intimation of any such shift in the Belgian-Prime Minister's office.

Prime Minister King departed for Paris.

Maj.-Gen. Vanier, 62, is reputedly in good health and top form. There had been some rumors that Gen. Vanier might be sent as Canadian representative at the Vatican in Rome.

Kiwanians Start Apple Day Drive

Annual Kiwanis club apple sales campaign started this week with 100 businessmen, members of the service club, endeavoring to build up the highest sales record since the campaign was started in 1929.

The club is raising its objective this year because of the additional expense involved in operating the Kiwanis children's home in the west end. A new extension to the home is being built and the costs are to be met from the sale of apples.

Final plans were laid at a meeting this week of the apple committee and Sid Easton was named chairman of the campaign. In charge of sale of boxes of apples is Roy Henry with a committee of active club members aiming to put a "box of McIntosh Reds in every home."

All club members are selling boxes of apples during the drive which will end with the traditional Apple Day when dressed as clowns, members set apples on downtown street corners.

A mixture of gasoline and alcohol is now used as motor fuel in Cuba.

Trieste Citizens Seem Unconcerned

TRIESTE (AP)—Riots and threats of riots hang as a constant threat to Trieste's well-being; the shots of political assassins ring out frequently enough to make one walk dark streets with caution, but Mr. Average Man of Europe's No. 2 hot spot takes it all with astounding calm.

Life for the common man goes on almost as if nothing unusual were happening or in prospect.

For the average citizen of Trieste the situation is somewhat similar to that of a citizen of Chicago at the height of the gang wars. He reads avidly of the latest violence. He discusses it at length with his neighbor. But he does not feel a part of it until it reaches all-engulfing proportions.

Ask an established middle-class resident of Trieste if he is Italian or Slovene and he replies: "I am Trieste!" This tendency for an individual to identify himself with his natal city rather than with either of the highly nationalistic countries which surround him is seen in all walks of life.

Trieste's mingled population and varied history have worked toward creation of an autonomous people.

Had Liberal Bid, Says Coldwell

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.P.F. leader, said Wednesday that while he had been approached unofficially with the suggestion he should take the leadership of the Liberal party, he had rejected the proposal.

"Both the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties have tried to maintain the capitalist system and we do not believe our problems can be solved under that system," he said. "For that reason I could not agree to an alliance, nor could I become a supporter of the Liberal party."

Mr. Coldwell said the first approach was made prior to the 1945 election and there had been other

INVASION DEFENCE TOLD

Canterbury, Eng. learned recently from the highest authority that it just missed being one of the most vital fortresses of the nation. Field-Marshal Montgomery, accepting the Freedom of the City, revealed that if invasion had come, his plan for fighting it in Kent hinged on Ashford and Canterbury, two great centers of road and rail communications. He added that no army ever left England so inadequately equipped to fight as British Expeditionary Force in 1939.

approaches since, but they were all on an unofficial plane.

Commenting on Mr. Coldwell's statement, Hon. Louis St. Laurent, acting prime minister, said: "If there have been any approaches, 'unofficial' is quite insufficient to characterize their nature."

Crop Here Factor Bread Rationing

By Basil Dean

LONDON.—The fate of Britain's bread rationing scheme, which is rapidly deteriorating into utter confusion and enormous queues, depends on what the weather is like during the next few weeks in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Rationing arrangements seem to get more and more complicated, and his nation's over-worked housewives find they are less and less capable of coping with those complexities.

Food Minister John Strachey, whose political future may well be at stake on this single issue, knows that bread coupon troubles are losing his party thousands of votes, and would be happy to end bread rationing tomorrow, but he says he must wait a few weeks and see how world harvests finally turn out.

Many women have long since run out of bread tokens for the first four-week rationing period which ends Saturday. They may now draw "advances" on their coupon supply for the next period.

Those who consume less bread and have coupons to spare are busy using them to buy up all the canned goods they can find, and many grocers have had their shelves emptied of supplies. But bakers find that few women are interested in buying cakes which also require coupons—and that these are going stale in the stores.

Claims New Bill Solves Problems

CAMROSE—Alberta's Bill of Rights "is the most important piece of legislation ever introduced in Canada and will solve all our economic problems," Floyd Baker, M.L.A., secretary of the Alberta Social Credit league, told a meeting of the Camrose branch Wednesday.

He was introduced by Chester Sayers, Camrose M.L.A.

Mr. Baker said Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney-general, would plead the case of the bill before the Alberta supreme court Sept. 18, and that it will be carried to the British privy council should the bill be declared beyond provincial jurisdiction.

He said the bill provides free hospital, medical and dental care for all, free education for as far as the student wishes to go, and $400 a year for those over 19 without employment. Retirement pension is compulsory at 60 and $40 a month would be paid to husband and wife.

Mr. Baker said the government did not intend to pay for the benefits of the bill by tax. Money would be issued to the banks and backed by natural resources instead of gold. Flow of this money would be regulated through existing banks and credit houses.

Dayna Boya, age 111, voted this year, as usual, in the Russian elections.

Labor to Submit Many Resolutions

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Winnipeg labor council Wednesday made public the text of resolutions it plans to present to the Canadian Congress of Labor convention at Toronto Sept. 23.

The resolutions will ask the convention to:

1. Reiterate its demand that labor should have "adequate representation" on all government boards which directly or indirectly affect workers and recommend to the government that women representing labor be appointed.
2. Urge the federal government to change its present method of compiling the cost-of-living index "so that it may truthfully represent rising costs."

Free Hospitalization

3. Petition the federal and provincial governments for free hospitalization, surgical and medical services for all workers and their families; and to relax existing legislation on old age pensions and unemployment insurance.
4. Recommend to both federal and provincial governments that all elections be carried out under the system of proportional representation.
5. Urge a conference of all compensation boards with representatives of employers and labor to discuss establishment of uniform compensation laws "on a higher and more equitable basis."
6. Petition the federal government to relax legislation on compulsory granting of two weeks' holidays with pay to all workers.

Want Larger School Unit

7. Support adoption of the larger school unit and request provincial education departments to adopt "parallel, basic curriculum" for all students, and to practice methods of allowing teaching on permits and urge the federal government to assume a greater financial responsibility in regard to the needs of education.
8. Urge the federal government to revise the proposed income tax regulations so as to provide all Canadians "similar tax exemptions now enjoyed and to be enjoyed by members of parliament."
9. Endorse the principles of co-operation and support the organization and development of co-operatives.

Abbott Asks Aid In Prices Battle

By Torchy Anderson

OTTAWA—While leaders of picket lines stood firm for more money, while a parliamentary committee creased behind closed doors trying to make up its mind what to report on the government's general industrial relations, while the general public stood on the sidelines watching a rising cost of living and looked for goods that were not available, Acting Finance Minister, Mr. Abbott called for support to fight inflation.

In a broadcast Wednesday night the young minister, who is subbing for the absent Illey, declared: "If all groups and classes exercise moderation, I am quite sure we can carry through our stabilization program."

The success we have in Canada has been based on widespread and intelligent public support. We must preserve that understanding, unless we are prepared to throw away the great benefit which we have earned and take our chances of inflation."

Drawing attention to the fact the cost of living index rose as much from the first of this year as it had during the whole period since inception of controls in October, 1945, Mr. Abbott warned the experience of the First Great War taught us we are now going through the most dangerous period.

"I will not mention the '19 cut hourly limit' that was prominent in the statements of prices boss Donat Gordon and himself before the industrial relations committee. Mr. Abbott said effective price control would be impossible "if wage and salary rates are allowed to rise indiscriminately." Price control had to contend with the pressure of increased production cost, inflationary pressure from the necessity of buying power, too heavy wage increases and major production interruptions (strikes).

Canada, he concluded, had helped rebuild world trade and had kept prices in check and thereby held the value of Canadian money. In these circumstances he asked for continued public support.

Ask Immigration On Selective Basis

OTTAWA (CP)—The senate committee on immigration Wednesday urged the government to announce immediately a policy of selective immigration of both agriculture and industrial workers.

The recommendation was made in a report tabled by Senator James Murdoch (Lib., Ontario), committee chairman.

Other recommendations:

1. Immigration and inspection officers be dispatched to Europe and offices opened with a view to meeting prospective immigrants and to the selection of those most desirable.
2. Surveys be undertaken in Europe to determine the localities where immigrants may be found and the conditions and anticipated problems to be overcome.
3. A survey be instituted in Canada to determine the agricultural and industrial resources available for use by prospective immigrants and the conditions and anticipated problems to be met.

B. C. Indians Plan Start Own Paper

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's 25,000 Indians are planning to have their own newspaper—the Native Voice—under the editorship of John A. Beaton, a veteran of the First Great War and a member of the Tsimshian tribe of Port Simpson.

The newspaper will be published in Vancouver as the official organ of the 16-year-old native brotherhood organization and will cover the whole coast region from the United States to the Arctic circle and eastward if the publishing venture proves successful.

Shortages of transportation and raw materials have reduced industrial activity in China to a fractional part of normal.

Soviet Won't Talk On 'Plunder' Issue

GENEVA (AP)—The Russian delegation to the general council meeting of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration Wednesday night refused to discuss a United States demand that Soviet occupation forces stop draining supplies out of Austria while UNRRA was sending supplies in.

Nicola Feodorov, Russian spokesman, was joined by delegates from the Ukraine and White Russia. He told the policy committee the American demand was prompted by political motives.

Piero Ho, La Guardia, UNRRA director-general, told the committee he intended to enforce resolution 21, adopted at the Atlantic City meeting, forbidding the diversion of indigenous products out of a country supplied by UNRRA, unless the resolution was repealed.

Sixty thousand ricksha pullers in Shanghai, China, recently went on strike in protest against high rents charged by ricksha owners.

Let Landlord Give Six Months' Notice

OTTAWA (CP)—The price board Wednesday night announced landlords of shared accommodation may give a straight six months' notice to vacate on any termination date.

The board also announced a lease from commercial accommodation, as provided by order 583, may contain a clause, should landlord and tenant agree, to the effect it can be terminated by the tenant only at a specified time on an agreed period of notice.

Nascope in North To Supply Outposts

OTTAWA (CP)—Slightly delayed by heavy ice floes, the Nascope, arctic supply boat, steamed into Churchill, Man., Wednesday, an official of the North West Territories branch of the mines and resources department said.

Nascope left Montreal July 4 and after refueling at Churchill will sail for Chesterfield Inlet, thence back to Repulse, a strait and proceed north on her annual mission to R.C.M.P. posts in the eastern Arctic archipelago.

Tag Days and the Chest

The Community Chest of Edmonton is thoroughly justified in asking the city council to restrict the number of tag days granted to organizations that require money from the public.

Chest officials take the stand, and rightly. They claim that tag days to be minimized in number after the formation of the Chest five years ago, that member agencies of the Chest have never asked for tag days and that canvassers for the Chest find it difficult to make collections from citizens who object to contributing to both tag days and the Chest fund.

All this is eminently reasonable. The Community Chest was supposed to make tag days unnecessary. And it should operate that way.

Of course, during war days it was impossible to carry out this purpose. There were all sorts of organizations engaged in various kinds of war work and these required funds to carry on. The tag day was the only method available to raise money for the war effort. But now that the war is over and the time has come to restrict, as Chest officials suggest, the number of tag days which, to say the best for them, constitute a laborious, time-consuming and costly method of raising money for community purposes.

But there is another side to that story that should be told.

There are 21 agencies that are members of the Chest. There must be just as many other agencies doing a useful work that are not members of the Chest. How is it proposed that these shall raise money for their essential efforts?

It is possible that some of these non-Chest agencies are duplicating, to some extent, the work of other agencies. It is possible that there is a degree of importance among them.

Nevertheless, it would occur to the disinterested observer that there should be a good many more member agencies of the Chest than 21. The very fact that the public does contribute to these non-Chest agencies, even though the number of tag days, would seem to indicate that they enjoy a measure of public confidence and support and fulfil a useful purpose in the community.

There is one very grave danger in the community chest system. And that is that it sometimes becomes a closed corporation devoted to the welfare of a limited number of charities.

We are not suggesting that such a thing has happened in the case of the Edmonton Community Chest. But it is a tendency that is always present. And to avoid it, Chest officials should always be ready and anxious to examine the claims, in a generous spirit, of new applicants for membership.

Tag days should be strictly limited in number. But it is difficult to see how tag days can be restricted without a certain parallel extension of the Community Chest membership.

But What is Essential?

The local Canadian Legion's suggestion that the city council should refuse to issue permits for "non-essential" buildings until the supply of materials improves is a step in the right direction. With the exception of occasional concessions to a corner store, an hospital extension, a school, perhaps a church, possibly a community centre, the Legion's proposal appears to be to defer all building except homes for those who have none, and that all other projects should remain in abeyance until that need has been fully met.

A doubt might possibly arise out of who is to say what is "essential", what is less essential and what is non-essential. If one individual at the civic block were vested with authority to say that a permit may be issued for that project because it is essential, but not for this because it is not, the cry, "Bureaucrats!" would be deafening. On the other hand, if all applications, or even border line cases, must be referred to a board, that possibly a community centre, or other cause will be added to the already numerous causes for delay in building undertakings, besides laying a foundation for local "politics", whether real or fancied, and any amount of lobbying.

Granted possible advantages, such a limitation having been ordained at least two formidable facts remain; that even if every undertaking arbitrarily declared non-essential came to an immediate halt, building material would still be in short supply, and that whatever benefit were to result would still be limited to the small circle of home-seekers able to afford to build.

The head of a homeless family who can afford a modestly luxurious home is just as homeless for the time being as anyone else. But the home which the limitation compels him to build may nevertheless use up sufficient of his capital that his dream home never will be realized. He will presumably have to build for sale, and therefore destined to accommodate a now-homeless family, would be for that reason, considered essential. But $3,000 worth of the home built for $4,000 and sold at $7,000 is just as non-essential as any entirely non-essential project.

And still the 80 percent with less than $2,150 a year income or the 63 percent with less than $1,500 remain as homeless as ever. While, as is admitted, the Legion's suggestion might be a step, it is no more than a step and does not come measurably nearer to a solution than any other scheme, official or private, that has been evolved. Nor will the solution be arrived at by any means short of a subsidized scheme having specifically in view the housing needs of that submerged 80 percent.

"Truth Serum"

The American press has been printing sensational accounts of what it is pleased to call "new truth serum" which has been administered to a Chicago youth who is said to have confessed under its influence to three murders and a number of robberies. The report is that the potion is to be tried out on a number of other accused criminals.

This drug, sodium pentothal, is neither new nor miraculous. It is a member of a barbiturate family of narcotics and has been employed for some time in the treatment of mental disease. It has been a standard sedative for 20 years.

It gained some prominence during the war when it was used to treat flyers who developed "combat neuroses". It was part of a treatment used by army doctors in cases of severe shock.

It is said to release the inhibitions, by some reaction on the brain, and thus help the troubled person to unlock the repressed thoughts which have been causing him trouble.

A similar drug, sodium amytal, has for some time served to produce hypnotic states in mentally disturbed patients during which they talked or even acted out "repressed material".

Both pentothal and amytal have been found useful for discovering the identity of persons suffering from loss of memory. Sensational and lurid accounts of simple scientific phenomena tend to bring all science, particularly psychiatry, into disrepute.

Reaction to the Bikini atom tests seem to range from disappointment that anything other than total destruction has been wrought on our planet, so far as we yet know, to revolve around the sun at the same old pace.

It is proposed to erect a Memorial Hall of International Amity at Hiroshima, scene of the first atomic bomb attack. Someone has a pretty queer sense of humor.

Victims of Earthquake Search Debris for Belongings LaFollette Loses

As 'Isolationist'

MILWAUKEE. (AP).—The LaFollette name, which has had almost magical vote-getting strength in Wisconsin for more than half a century and has resounded in the United States senate for 40 years, was erased at least temporarily from the political boards Wednesday.

Destroyer of the LaFollette dynasty at least for the present, was a 37-year-old former Marine Corps captain, Joseph R. McCarthy, who came back from the wars to defeat Robert M. LaFollette, Jr. for the Republican senatorial nomination in Tuesday's primary election.

Sen. LaFollette's bid for the Republican nomination after serving 12 years as a Progressive followed dissolution of the Wisconsin Progressive party last March after a series of crushing defeats. His opponent, the youngest circuit judge ever elected in Wisconsin, hammered hard at LaFollette's record which he termed "isolationist."

AIR OFFICER NAMED
OTTAWA. (CP).—The appointment of Air Vice Marshal A. T. N. Cowley, C.B.E., Victoria, as director of air services in the transport department was announced today. He succeeds J. A. Watson, who retired last year.

The city of Matanzas, on the northwest coast of the Dominican Republic, felt the full force of the devastating earthquake and tidal wave which hit the country. Residents are shown combing the ruins seeking their belongings after the first shock. Most of the inhabitants had fled to safer areas fearing a recurrence of the disaster. Many of the buildings which withstood the first shock crumbled during the 10-second tremor which racked the city.

Teachers Refuse Increase to East

OTTAWA. (CP).—A recommendation by the constitutional committee of the Canadian Teachers' Federation that representation be increased from three to six delegates was found unacceptable Wednesday by a majority of the 40 teachers here for their 25th annual conference.

The teachers are seeking legal status for their federation by becoming incorporated under the Dominion Companies Act. J. W. Barnett of Edmonton said increased representation for Ontario and Quebec would result in a "block vote and put this organization in a precarious position."

Supporting the recommendation, C.J. Oates of Vancouver, said he realized the teachers' demand for straight representation by population but this was "a reasonable and equitable solution."

No concession was being made on "a theoretical or geographical basis." It was merely a compromise to Quebec and Ontario whose teachers comprised two-thirds of the dominion's total.

C. I. O. Captures Calgary Packers
CALGARY. (CP).—The United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.) succeeded Wednesday in winning employees of the Burns and McLean Packing Co. Limited packing plant here away from their A.F.L. affiliation.

The U.P.W.A. now has the packing plants of the "big three" in Canada—Burns, Swifts and Canadian Packers.

The vote conducted by government representatives was 249 for the U.P.W.A., 191 for the present union.

William Bork, assistant director for the west of U.P.W.A., said the plant employees will appoint a representative to sit in on wage discussions now under way in Toronto.

In the meantime the U.P.W.A. will make formal application to the provincial government for certification as the bargaining agent at the plant. This is expected to be completed in two or three weeks.

Seek Fair Sharing Of National Income
OTTAWA. (CP).—Appointment of a royal commission which would seek a fair distribution of the national income was recommended by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture Wednesday in a brief to the common committee on industrial relations.

The federation urged a three-point task for the proposed commission. It should:

1. Survey the division of the national income as indicated by the levels of farm prices, industrial wage, and corporations profits.

2. Recommend adjustment of balances where necessary.

3. Recommend a charter of economic rights which would commend itself to the people generally and which would form the basis for necessary action in the preservation of industrial peace, and the maintenance of an equitable economic balance among all groups.

Ship Grain Cargo From Hudson Bay
CHURCHILL, Man. (CP).—The British freighter M.V. Revelstoke Park steamed out of this northern Manitoba port Wednesday morning for the United Kingdom with a load of grain and lumber—the first transatlantic cargo to move via the Hudson Bay route since 1939.

The three ships now here had uneventful trips from England but captains said the Hudson Strait was "full of icebergs." Ship's crews stood by during the short northern nights in the strait, but had little trouble in navigating during daylight hours.

Captain MacMillan of the Revelstoke Park, said the trip from Liverpool to Churchill could be made in 11 days compared with 14 to Montreal.

(The distance from Liverpool to Churchill is 2,958 miles, to Montreal 3,007 miles, and to Halifax, 2,485 miles.)

Calgary Children May Face Curfew
CALGARY. (CP).—A curfew to keep Calgary youngsters off the streets at night is the object of the city council's new ordinance, according to a letter received at city hall.

Parents too would be affected by the proposed law. It would prohibit parents from allowing their children on the streets after a selected time. This was said to be one of a series of recommendations made by the committee for better supervision of children.

You'll get 50% MORE JAM or JELLY from your fruit with CERTO

It's Very Easy... Very Quick... gives SURE RESULTS

Certo jams need only a one to two-minute full rolling boil... Certo minutes. So quick—so easy. No long, tedious boiling and stirring.

In this short boil practically no steam. So you get up to one-half amount of fruit than in long-boil recipes. And how you welcome that extra amount.

Short boiling cannot spoil the fresh fruit taste or dull the natural colour as old-fashioned long-boiling does. Certo jams and jellies retain lovely colour—fresh fruit taste.

You get a book of tested, easy-to-follow recipes with every bottle of Certo—a different recipe for each kind of fruit. Follow them exactly and you are sure of success.

Certo is fruit pectin—the natural jelling substance in fruit—extracted from fruit in which it is most plentiful.

Look for Bank of Tested Recipes—the label of every Certo bottle.

A pound of jam or jelly made with Certo contains no more sugar than a pound made the old, long-boil way.

The trip is made either by boat or train through Trieste. Here are shown those preparing to make journey by water, the most common mode of travel. While more expensive by vessel—$150 for family of three—train trip entails a wait of from three to four weeks.

Oxdrawn cart, upper left, hauls the furniture of one family to the dock. All forms of locomotion are employed. An Italian girl, center, halts her bicycle to have her papers checked by Venezia Giulia policeman. An Italian family, bottom, supervises the loading of their possessions prior to departure. The day is a sad one for many an old-timer of the peninsula. Mrs. Salma Reinori, 56, right, sits atop her baggage looking back at the village of Pola where she was born and lived all her life. She is headed for Venice with her five daughters. Photos by Leo Stoecker, Acme staff photographer.

Très Chic, Mr. Cholmondeley, but...

(A SIMPLE TALE TO SHOW HOW BANK CREDIT WORKS)

Mr. C. has dreamed up this creation for the fall trade. He's counting on its being a sensational success. And it will be... but later.

In the meantime he's short of cash. He's used up most of his working capital to buy materials. He needs money to keep his factory going, to pay his workmen, to meet other bills.

So he borrows from the Royal Bank and doesn't lose a day. And when his customers pay him, Cholmondeley pays off the bank.

It's as simple as that—a typical everyday transaction between this bank and one of its business customers.

WOULD A BANK LOAN HELP YOUR BUSINESS?

New Aerial Service Starts in November

New, direct air service to operate between Edmonton and Saskatoon should be inaugurated shortly after Nov. 1 next, according to Paul Y. Davoud, assistant in charge of operations to the vice-president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, who is an Edmonton visitor.

"OUR LATEST information is that runways and other facilities at Saskatoon, should be completed by Nov. 1. Pilots have already completed their training for the new run and the line will be ready to operate after a familiarization flight or two," Mr. Davoud said.

The TCA operations official is highly enthusiastic over the new extension of service, which is planned with only one regular stop between Edmonton and Winnipeg, at Saskatoon.

WESTERN LINES of TCA should be operating DC 3 21-passenger equipment before too very long. There are already several of these planes in operation in the east at the present time.

"It should not be so very long before the present 14-passenger aircraft have passed out of the picture," Mr. Davoud said.

Actually the DC 3's will be only a stop-gap aircraft. In the not too distant future it is planned to replace all equipment with the DC 4 four motor aircraft, carrying 44 passengers. Soon this type will be in operation on the Trans-Atlantic route.

NEXT STEP will be to put the machines on the trans-continental runs.

The latest type of DC 4 will fly in the stratosphere at around 28,000 feet, high above all ordinary turbulence. They will have pressurized cabins, giving maximum passenger comfort at all times.

When the new high altitude planes are in service throughout TCA system the present concepts of aerial navigation will change.

There will be no more flying around corners and picking your way through mountain passes," he explained.

Edmonton, direct to Vancouver, over the highest mountains, "will be the route then."

MR. DAVOUD was unable to predict when the high flying air lines would be in general service. This is dependent on supply factors and the strengthening of many runways.

"I wish we had airports like Nampa field in all parts of the system," he remarked.

Mr. Davoud expressed great satisfaction over the prospect that Edmonton is on the route of commercial air traffic to the Orient.

DAVOUD, WHO HAD a brilliant record in the Second World War, winning both the DSO and DFC, was for 10 months in command of the famed City of Edmonton Mosquito intruder squadron.

Wednesday he paid a visit to Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence, commander in chief of the Western Air Command, RCAF.

He also dropped in on W. R. McCall, president of the staff of Canadian Airways Ltd.

FOR A PERIOD before the war he was on the staff of Canadian Airways Ltd.

Before The Magistrate

David McGrath and Muriel Birch appeared before the city police court on Thursday morning on charges of shop-breaking in connection with the robbery of the Brown Fruit Company in July and were adjourned until Friday.

In order that three other accused, Robert McGrath, Ralph D. Ross and Kenneth W. Myer could be taken to appear. The three last mentioned were sent to the Fort Saskatchewan jail after they were apprehended on a charge of shop-breaking at the Imperial Oil Company premises last Tuesday morning.

Frank Mustat found guilty on a charge of driving while intoxicated was given 14 days imprisonment and had his driver's license suspended for three months.

Pleading guilty to charges of dangerous driving and driving with a license Daniel Edick was fined $25 and costs or 35 days on the first charge and $2 and costs or five days imprisonment on the second charge.

William A. Evenden was sentenced to 14 days imprisonment at Fort Saskatchewan and had his driver's license suspended for two months when he appeared before Magistrate A. J. Miller, K.C., in city police court Wednesday on a charge of being intoxicated while in charge of an auto.

Plan Old System For Liquor Permits

Alberta will probably revert to the pre-war method of issuing liquor permits with no special identification required should national registration cards be abolished, J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, said Thursday.

PRIOR TO the institution of registration in 1940 Alberta residents applied for liquor permits giving their names and addresses. Only when the issuing authority suspected that a permit should not be issued was any special identification required.

"I believe we would have to revert to the same system since there is no other identification that applies uniformly to all people," Mr. King said.

All Farmer Groups Don't Back Strike

Other farm organizations in the west have not given unqualified approval to the proposed non-delivery strike which the Alberta Farmers' Union has threatened, according to reports received. Farm leaders in general have so far been withholding any opinion, although some have voiced opposition and some support.

GEORGE CHURCH, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, stated that so far his organization has not been approached to find out its stand in the matter, while R. McCall, secretary of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, made a statement to the effect that neither the board of directors nor the annual meeting of his organization had voiced any opinion on the proposed strike.

George Bickerton, research director of the Saskatchewan section, voiced his opinion of the proposed non-delivery strike, while C. E. Wood, president of the Manitoba Federation of Agriculture, said that his organization was "definitely not interested."

He further stated: "I cannot see how they can do it effectively anyway." No comment on the situation was given by the Alberta Wheat Pool nor the United Grain Growers.

CARL STIMBLE, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, stated Tuesday that ballots on the proposed strike were rolling in from various localities of the A.F.U., and he forecast a non-delivery strike by about Aug. 24 unless demands for parity prices are met.

A Smile Rests Your Face, Is Best Facial Exercise

By Ida Jean Kain
Life doesn't do much to our faces until we are past 25. From then on the expression deepens, so naturally the one used most leaves its mark. It's been said that frowning uses 34 muscles. It would be difficult to count, but not hard to trace for the tug is down and expression one of deep intensity. That's why frowning makes faces appear older.

Every facial expression uses certain muscle groups, so the trick is to use many expressions, not the same old ones. Smiling is supposed to use four major muscles, and to bring seven others into play. But smiling gives the face a lift, eases tension and "rests" the face. Have you ever watched a person with a tense, set expression suddenly smile? The tension lines smooth right out. Occasionally someone will write in and ask for a set facial exercise. I would hesitate to send specific exercises for this reason: facial exercises are very tricky unless they are done just so, they might be making a new wrinkle. Besides, the average woman doesn't have time to do special facial exercises. But we all have time to look pleasant, and that's wonderful exercise.

If you really want to do some wrinkle-chasers, then make up your own set and pattern them after the uplift movements. You can't go wrong that way. Grinning, chewing whistling and puffing the cheeks out all counteract the downpull of gravity. And these are all more or less natural movements.

One of the simplest is to blow up a small balloon. This puffs the cheeks out and also helps to fill in those salt cellars at the base of the nose. As the air is forced into the balloon, this erases the set lines around the mouth, particularly the parenthesis lines between the nose and mouth which seem to deepen as we get along in years.

After the balloon is full, tie a string around the top to keep the air in, and then keep it up in the air by blowing. Tip your head back and puff. That is good ridance of a double chin too.

The corners of the mouth are supposed to be an index to disposition. At any rate, tense, determined women compress their mouths into a thin, grim line. The remedy is to relax. To relax the muscles at the corners, a good exercise is to repeat the vowel sounds out loud, slowly, and slowly, moving the lips freely in all directions.

One beauty authority suggests this exercise to overcome drooping at the corners of the mouth. Insert little fingers in the mouth corners, then alternately pull and relax. The remedy is to relax. To relax the muscles at the corners, a good exercise is to repeat the vowel sounds out loud, slowly, and slowly, moving the lips freely in all directions.

Seems reasonable. If you just smile at all this, well, that's the best exercise there is.

Miller-Prestlien Exchange Vows

CHAUVIN—Westminster Presbyterian church here was the scene of an attractive wedding recently when Miss Kirstie Oles Prestlien, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Prestlien, of Hughenden, became the bride of Mr. Loyle William Miller, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Miller of Chauvin. Rev. A.R. Hancock, of Wainwright, officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of white silk jersey and net. Her chapel veil was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and white carnations. A gold locket, a gift of the groom, was the bride's only jewelry.

Miss Velma Prestlien was her sister's bridesmaid. She was gown in yellow net with which she wore a yellow veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and blue cornflowers.

Little Betty Sorenson, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a pink frock. She carried a blue and white basket of roses.

Best man was Mr. Robert N. Miller, and the ushers were Mr. Lester Prestlien and Mr. Stuart Montjoy. Mrs. A.E. Keith played the wedding music during the signing of the register sang "Because."

After the ceremony a reception to 60 guests was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Sigurd Sorenson. Mrs. Prestlien, the bride's mother, wore a gown of gray crepe with contrasting navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Miller, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gown in pearly fabric crepe with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of carnations.

The newlyweds left later on a wedding trip to Jasper and Banff.

Shirtmaker Raincoat In Flower Hues

Showers always bring flowers . . . it's the way of nature. The designers of a new breed of raincoats have decided to jump the gun, and instead of cleaving to the color line of beige and drab raincoat fabrics, burst forth with a series which are blossom hues. This shiny fabric raincoat, cut like a shirtmaker frock, with convertible neckline, buttons, pockets, belt, et cetera, is made in various flower hues which light up a misty, misty gray day.

and on return will reside in Chauvin. For travelling the bride wore a two-piece suit of rose with black accessories and a white topcoat.

Looking Into The Future In Gay Frock

This is as pretty an afternoon, go-to-church, restaurant-dinner dress as anyone would want . . . wouldn't you say? It has gaiety with its turquoise top; new style with its apron peplum; glitter with its black nailhead spatterings. It has a secret that you don't see immediately, besides: it's a maternity frock, with ingenious but simple belt arrangements to keep it literally fit as long as one needs this service. This particular maternity dress is typical of what New York designers provide . . . style plus a practical theme.

Lord Rothschild Weds In London

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Reuters). — Lord Rothschild, 35 years old, and Miss Teresa Mayor, 29, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.J.G. Mayor of London, were married here Wednesday by George P. Murdoch, City of London registrar.

Miss Mayor was described in the London Gazette as "a civil servant in the War Office" but her brother said she was engaged in intelligence work during the war.

Lord Rothschild, head of the British branch of the famous banking family, has made science his career.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Clapperton have returned to their home in Calgary after spending a week in Edmonton.

PUPPETS CREATED BY MUSEUM WAR KEIS: The puppets shown above are enacting a play, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew". They were created by workers of the leadership course of the City of Edmonton Recreational Commission in the Museum of Arts. The puppet show will be shown to war veterans in military hospitals.

Museum Hive of Industry, Workers Create Puppets

Miss Swail Pledges Vows

In a setting of summer flowers the marriage took place at First Baptist Church Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. when Miss Evelyn Eileen Swail, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Swail of Edmonton, became the bride of Bryan Collins Colwell, son of the Rev. and Mrs. T. C. Colwell of Vancouver. The Rev. Daniel Young performed the ceremony. Mrs. E. Barber Smith played the wedding music and Miss Hermine McNeil sang "O Day of Golden Promise."

THE BRIDE was given in marriage by her father and wore a white lace over satin gown fashioned with a full gathered skirt and a fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline and long cuffed sleeves coming to lily points over the hand. Tiny buttons trimmed the back of the bodice and the sleeves. Her long veil of applied net and lace was held in place with a Juliet cap of sequins. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, blue cornflowers and white daisies. Pearls complimented her gown.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Margaret Clark and Marjorie Graham. The former wore a gown of peach net over taffeta and the latter green net over blue taffeta. Both wore Juliet caps to match and carried colonial bouquets of summer flowers.

Best man was Norman Swail and ushers were Douglas Swail and Ian Dunlop.

MRS. SWAIL wore a queen's blue triple sheer frock, a black hat trimmed with blue feathers and a corsage of pink roses. Mr. Colwell, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black crepe ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Macdonald hotel, where the bride's table was set with white linen, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked with lighted white tapers and vases of pastel sweet peas. Miss Eleanor Sheldon was in charge of the guest book. Maurice Bookwood proposed the bridal toast.

Later the couple left for a honeymoon in Banff, the bride traveling in a grey suit, large black hat and a black sheer blouse. Later the couple will leave by motor to take up residence in Toronto.

Want Women At Peace Conference

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Reuters). — Mrs. Iris Rogers of New York said Wednesday she will demand a seat for women at the Peace Conference.

United States representative of the World Women's Party for Equal Rights, Mrs. Rogers said she considers women of all countries should have a seat at the peace table.

Since July 2, when the City of Edmonton Recreation Commission commenced its leadership course, the Museum of Arts has been a hive of industry. In an upstairs room a small group of workers under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Barnhouse, has been laboring steadfastly on a workshop project unusual in the annals of Edmonton entertainment, namely, a puppet show.

THIS PROJECT was designed primarily to co-ordinate all branches of the leadership course. Artists were needed to design and execute stage settings, properties and the puppets themselves. Musicians were needed to supply the musical background and vocal solos used in the play. Those skilled at needlework were given the task of clothing the puppets in suitable costume.

In constructing the stage itself workers ran into difficulties. They were a group of women not accustomed to handling tools and their efforts were bogged down, and a few less-suffering husbands were pressed into service.

GORDON BELL and George Barnhouse went to the rescue and did carpentry work. Clark Hummel and Scott Brewster handled the lighting of the stage.

Gradually the project took shape. From bits of paste, paper and wire, the puppets began to come to life. These are more than smooth-faced dolls; each puppet has its own personality, and as this personality developed, they became almost like the workers' own children.

The workers had chosen a play with rugged characters. They delved into Robert Service and recreated the characters as he pictured them. It might be said that "the lady known as Lou" was a combination of all the glamor girls of history, past present and future. It is hard to describe Lou. She might be said to have a combination of the charms of Diamond Lil with perhaps a dash of Cleopatra thrown in for good measure. Dan McGrew, the villain of the piece, is a combination of all the double-dealing deceivers of song and stage.

THEN THERE is the sentimental bartender with penchant for crying in the customer's beer. The Ragtime Kid rivals "Duke" Ellington at tickling the ivories. The hero, the Stranger, "dog - dirty dog - loaded for bear" with his cavernous cheeks and grizzled beard could give Boris Karloff a run for his money any day. Then, to tell the story the workers created the Narrator, a black-robed gent, wise in the ways of the world. These were the workers' characters. From the first rehearsal they came to life behind the footlights of the Museum's little stage. They ceased to be puppets but became people that the workers had created and brought to life.

No one knows what they will do or how they will react. Each performance is different. Even the operators find it difficult to control their headstrong and temperamental children. Miss Mary Wilson has considerable trouble with the Harlequin who has a weakness for mugging and stealing the spotlight.

WHEN THE STRANGER sits down at the piano one never knows whether he will come out with Bach or boogie. Hard on the workers' try to make Dan McGrew behave. He insists upon dying with his hat on. For this reason they keep the workers in a state of delightful suspense until it seems to be a question of who is operating who.

The play could not have been produced without the untiring efforts and the ingenuity of the following: Miss Dorothy Gaiden, Mrs. Dorothy Galloway, Miss Mary Wilson, Miss Marjorie Magee, Mrs. Betty Bell, Miss Hammon, Mrs. Hodgins, Mrs. McLean, Miss Cathryn Zender, Gavin Bright, Bunney Evans, Frank Halroyd, Scott Brewster, Mark Hummel, Miss Rose Lemmie and Mrs. Elizabeth Haynes.

THE PUPPETS have been shown in the city and will be shown in the military hospitals for entertainment of war veterans.

William Robinson of Leask, Sask., is visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Anderson, 9714 100 street. He celebrated his 84th birthday here Aug. 12. He is a British Army veteran and served with the Royal Highlanders, the Black Watch during the Nile expedition in 1884 and 1885. ## Why Grow Old?

Look at the healthful and inviting appearance of this meal. It is made up of fresh fruits and vegetables which can't be shipped to Europeans. Eat them for your health—and the health of famine stricken countries.

By Josephine Lowman

YESTERDAY I was engrossed in a nasty job for the sake of the food conservation program. I tried to calculate the calories which went into my garbage pail. When I told my maid that I wanted to see everything she threw away so I could count the calories, she looked at me suspiciously and said, "Miss Josephine, you aren't going to begin streamlining hogs, are you?"

When I had the total I thought perhaps it would result in the streamlining of a few hogs in my family. I always try to be careful for sake of the family budget and was amazed when the total counted up to enough to feed one person fairly well for a day and that two could eat better on it than many persons in famine stricken Europe do!

I THINK THE TROUBLE is that we never know just how hungry our family will be and therefore must calculate on seconds and even thirds. This necessitates a waste. The bad thing about this situation is the fact that usually the second and third helpings are already well padded and would be better off without so much food anyway. Many families do not like warmed over foods and habitually prepare much more than necessary. These foods get too old to eat.

It won't hurt many of us to pull in our belts. It will be good for our figures, our health, and our souls! If the process called for a little real deprivation it would be more helpful to the spirit. What the government asks us to do calls for so little sacrifice that it makes us feel silly to do so little when engaged in such a tragic cause.

REMEMBER TO SAVE wheat and fats and oils and plant your diet around foods which are abundant at the present time. Too many fats and oils will give you cholesterol and bulges; anyway, and you are better off with fewer of them.

Every common food is said to be worth at least $7.50 annually to farmers because of the harmful insects it eats.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix: Why must a fellow be a regular movie actor to get along with a girl? I have a girl and I love her very much, but what gets me is that every time I take her out or even call on her I have to kiss her and tell her over and over again how much I love her.

I figure that a girl like this would be a poor prospect as a wife because when a guy came home from work he would have to put in considerable time necking before he got his supper. Frankly I don't like all of this stuff, but I want a woman who will be a regular pal to whom I can tell all of my troubles.

WONDERING.

Answer: Well, son, you are a wise youth to settle this delicate point before you are married, and thereby you can save yourself much trouble and prevent floods of tears on the wife's part.

SOFT TALK is alright, but it has its own particular times and places and it cannot always be kept on tap. No man, no matter how much he cares for a woman, always in a romantic mood, and a woman is a fool who hasn't enough sense to know this.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been married for 12 years. Have no daughters, 8 and 10 years old. Through the years my husband has given me every luxury and has been good to me. We have never really loved each other. He married me because his sweetheart had died and he married me because I knew he had money and could give me a life of ease. I have never put myself out to make him comfortable or happy, feeling that his love for the children would bind him to me.

However, he now tells me that he has fallen deeply in love with another woman and begs me to let him go. He says he will support me and educate our children, but I have made up my mind not to give him up. I have no love for him, but I want my luxuries. I don't force him to marry me, so why should I free him now?

MRS. A. S.

Answer: No reason at all, unless you have a sense of honor and decency and some human compassion in your soul. If you have, I don't see how you can hesitate under the circumstances, about giving your husband his freedom, and the right to marry the woman he loves.

THE OBLIGATIONS of matrimony are reciprocal. You have defaulted on all yours. You have never given your husband love, or tenderness, or consideration. You have never thought of his pleasure or comfort. What do you think that a man owes to that kind of wife? Absolutely nothing.

So have a heart-to-heart talk with your husband. He has agreed to support you and his children, so why not have a good cop-out about it and let him have his happiness?

Dear Dorothy Dix: Will you please advise me about choosing a vocation? I hate commercial work. What do you think about nursing as a profession?

RUTH G.

Answer: Don't take up any work for which you have not a natural aptitude. If you are not successful when we do the kind of work that appeals to us of itself, then we find a never-failing interest.

ONE o'clock and the hospital seemed unusually quiet. Doctor Willoughby slipped into his laboratory where he was working on an experiment of his own. Margaret went down to the diet kitchen to see if she couldn't hurry lunch. Sally stood for a moment looking into the ink blackness beyond the radius of light thrown by the windows of the Receiving Room. She had been on night duty for nearly a week with Margaret Adams assisting.

The street was deserted. Rain and sleet fell in wide slanting sheets, striking the windows with vicious metallic raps. What a night! Suddenly from nowhere there appeared a car close by the entrance to Receiving. Sally heard the car driven in and apparently it bore no lights. Two men got out and lifted a third, slender youth who was probably sixteen years old. Sally opened the door. They staggered inside and dropped their burden on a wide bench that stood against the wall. Blood and mud matted his hair and covered his front clothing. One foot was turned grotesquely and an arm hung limp. Without a word, the two strangers turned to leave but Sally had other ideas.

"Wait a minute," she said crisply. "Where are you going? What is this? Who is this boy and who are you?" Doctor Willoughby hurried to her side. The newcomers edged and edged toward the door but Sally stood her ground. "Ain't nothing 't do with us," one man blustered. "We found 'im here."

"Your name, please?" she asked coolly.

"That ain't necessary," the blusterer muttered. "It ain't nothin' to do with us. We're gettin' out now."

"Call the police, Sally," the resident said quietly without knowing his own mind. The boy, "Better not move, either of you," he went on, "or we shall have three patients instead of one here. You are both covered."

If it hadn't been so serious Sally would have laughed. But she was at the telephone calling the police station. As she turned she saw the eyes of the two men searching the big room in search of a possible means of escape or, perhaps, for the gun covering them. In an unbelievably short time the siren of the police ambulance shrieked above the storm, and the intruders squirmed and backed toward the door. Doctor Willoughby's head jerked up.

"Stay right where you are. Come in, Sergeant. Now, you tell the officers your story and see if they swallow it more easily than I did. I'm taking the patient to the operating room—call an orderly. The Maynard," the doctor said and stood aside to listen while the police officers questioned and took notes. At last one called Sergeant pocketed his notebook and turned to his companion.

"We'll take 'em to Headquarters. Doctor and let the Chief have a go at them. Come on, you two. I don't like the looks of this. Your story sounds fishy. It smells, too. Oh, your car'll be all right where it is. Out you go."

Curbstone Icecream 'Racket' Now Flourishing in Britain

By Frank Swanson

LONDON.—Britain is waging an uphill battle these hot summer days against one of the most flourishing rackets of the postwar era—the curbstome sale of millions of dollars' worth of impure and bacteria-laden "ice."

Takings by a small group of promoters can be counted only in astronomical terms, while the average income of the individual curbstome merchant who operates the concession for a "higher" tip is never less than $150 a week.

Secret of the fat fortunes that are being made on the street corners lies in the simple fact that in Britain icecream, particularly that sold from barrows and stands that disappear with the advent of night-fall, contains far more ice than cream per gallon.

Best quality icecream, made by reputable dairies and not in dingy basement workshops by "fly-by-night" peddlers, contains 10 to 15 per cent butterfat, five per cent protein, one percent milk powder residue, 10 per cent carbohydrates (milk-sugar) and 62 percent water.

But the icecream made in back street sheds and basements under the worst imaginable conditions contains far less fat, milk powder, carbohydrates and more water and often other injurious adulterants. One northern "fly-by-night" was discovered making icecream recently with a mixture of mashed potatoes, machine oil and ether.

Superior of the trade is the absence of a legal definition in this country of icecream.

Main methods practiced fairly are the old-style Italian method and the newer American procedure, but with few of the rigid sanitary regulations imposed by law on Canadian dairies. This is the curbstome pedlar's loophole.

Made under such conditions that would shock the average sanitation-conscious Canadian, and indeed, would shock the British consumer if he could see where his 23 cent curbstome "ice cream" comes from, the bacteria content of curbstome icecream is high.

Sample taken by health authorities in the seaside resort of Blackpool recently contained 3,000,000 assorted typhoid, coli, tuberculosis and diphtheria bacteria per cubic centimetre. Worried by recent outbreaks of dysentery in widely scattered parts of the country, health authorities are pointing accusingly at racketeered icecream.

Racketeers' tactics.

Not only in methods of production are racketeers tactics used, but in the distribution end as well. Strong arm procedure that is reminiscent of the "palm" days of prohibition play an important part in the nation's newest money racket. In the Midlands, particularly in Lancashire, truck loads of icecream, wa-

Call U. S. Strike Of Lake Seamen

CLEVELAND, (AP)—The National Maritime Union (N.M.U.) called the Great Lakes seamen on strike Thursday and estimated that sufficient non-union members would join the walkout to paralyze lake shipping within several days.

Normal method of operation by a London "barrow boy" is to buy from the icecream "peddlers" portions of the mixture at $10 which cost to manufacture approximately 30 cents. Most of the peddlers charge 25 cents a portion, getting about 150 portions to the gal, which explains why their income seldom drops below $150 a week in hot weather.

Most of the peddlers charge 25 cents a portion, getting about 150 portions to the gal, which explains why their income seldom drops below $150 a week in hot weather.

Frightened that ministry of food officers will clamp down on their lucrative gold strike, operators have banded together into the Ice Cream Alliance, to which each curbstome operator subscribes $5 yearly as a membership fee. The Alliance now has some 6,000 members, and is growing daily. Its job is to look after the "welfare" of the "little man" who sells the wares of the "icecream kings" at street corners.

But ministry officials are getting wise to the sharp practices of the peddlers. There have been many recent raids of corner stands and curbstome emporia.

Operators have been asked to answer a series of awkward questions concerning the source of their wares. But they aren't worrying much. They know the racket is coming, and sometimes run as high as $500, will be looked after and sample taken by health authorities in the seaside resort of Blackpool recently contained 3,000,000 assorted typhoid, coli, tuberculosis and diphtheria bacteria per cubic centimetre.

Worried by recent outbreaks of dysentery in widely scattered parts of the country, health authorities are pointing accusingly at racketeered icecream.

Food Monotony, Inadequacy General British Complaint

From British Institute of Public Opinion

TORONTO.—Individual observers who return from the United Kingdom with conflicting reports about "austerity" conditions there probably would find their conclusions agreeing to a greater extent were they able, by some miracle, to talk to many thousands of Britons—not just from one area or in one strata of society, but arranged so as to form an accurate sample of the population.

Latest report from the British Institute of Public Opinion, based on scientific study, therefore throws some light on the problems which war-weary Britons face this year. While last winter, exactly half the population as reflected in the sample, told British Institute reporters that they did not feel they were getting enough food to enable them to work efficiently, today the monotony of the food would be the chief complaint. A striking 28 percent, however, would still put inadequacy at the top.

Gallup reporters asked: "What would be your chief complaint about food at the moment; that it is monotonous and without variety or that you do not get enough of it?"

Monotony ..... 53%
Not enough ..... 28%
No opinion ..... 19%

More time ..... 36%
Same time ..... 31%
Less time ..... 19%
Total above ..... 67%
Don't know ..... 11%

Asked about holiday accommodations, 35 percent of the people interviewed said they had been able to get accommodation. Another 13 percent said they had tried and either failed or were still trying. Exactly 60 percent said they were not taking any holidays away from their homes this year. As a matter of fact, it is interesting to recall that last summer the Canadian Institute reported that 45 percent of Canadians did not take a vacation.

Byrnes Denies Russ Charge That Some Enriched By War

PARIS. (AP)—State Secretary Byrnes of the United States, in an address patently aimed at Russia, told the peace conference Thursday that economic treaties concluded in the "Potsdam" agreement would lead to "enslavement and exploitation."

The same time Mr. Byrnes took exception to Russian allegations—made during the debate on Italy's statement, in the conference—that certain countries had enriched themselves during the war.

"Now what great power enriched itself during the war?" Mr. Byrnes asked. "I hope he (the Soviet spokesman) was not referring to the United States."

Mr. Byrnes declared that the war cost the United States $400,000,000,000 "loaned by the American public," but was "seeking no recompense."

Mr. Byrnes added that the United States was willing to help in the economic rebirth of any country. He spoke after Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk of Czechoslovakia had told the conference that Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Gyorogosi had tried to "gloss over" his country's record as an Axis satellite by castigating Czechoslovakia in an address before the conference Wednesday.

"Who won this war—the United Nations or Hungary?" the peppy Masaryk demanded indignantly as he denied Mr. Gyorogosi's charges that the Hungarian minority in Czechoslovakia was being ruthlessly persecuted.

He maintained that Czechoslovakia's record on minorities "is second to none in Europe during the period between the two wars." Mr. Masaryk declared Hungarian military formations "assisted" in mass executions of Slovak patriots and partisans "and asked:

"After all these unspeakable experiences can you wonder that we did not give back all the rights and privileges which the Hungarians have abused for so long?"

Appeal on Behalf Of Harold Gerson

MONTREAL. (CP)—An appeal to the supreme court of Canada, aimed at freeing Harold Samuel Gerson, who now is serving a three-month sentence here for contempt of court and who awaits trial in connection with Canada's espionage investigation, has been entered.

The appeal is from the July 19 judgment of Chief Justice Rinfret, which dismissed application for a writ of habeas corpus by which Gerson sought his liberty.

Gerson, with three others, was sentenced here June 29 for refusing to testify at the conspiracy trial of Fred Rose, Labor-Progressive M.P. for Montreal-Cartier. The four were called as crown witnesses.
